After a careful examination of the Senator's condition the doctor said that the inbut Mr. Piumb failed to heed the advice. Only when his regular headaches were especially severe did he abandon his work, and as soon as the slightest relief came he at once returned to the enormous correspondence and the street. Just after the opening of the Senate, walking with Col. E. C. Manning, his frequent companion, he stopped as Manning was about to leave him and said: "Don't go, Manning; I want you to stay by me; I don't know exactly suit. It must have been 1 o'clock or later yesterday morning when he returned to his quarters at 612 14th street, for his landlord, Mr. Jinnings, said that he did not retire until nearly 1 o'clock and the Senator had not yet returned. Shortly before 2 o clock Mr. Jinnings was awakened by a knock at his bed room door. Senator Plumb told Mr. Jinnings he was very sick and requested him to come downstairs and sit up with him. The Senator's condition was serious and at 2 o'clock Dr. Wales was summoned. The doctor alleviated the pain and administered proper remedies. He stayed with Mr. Plumb from 2 until 6.30 o'clock and then left his patient sleeping quietly. At 6:45 o'clock Sena-tor Plumb awoke, bounded out of bed to a slop jar and began to vomit. The vomiting ceased after a time. Then the Senator tossed his hands to his head and exclaimed, "Oh, my God! my head, my head!"—the last words he ever uttered. A few minutes later Mr. Plumb lapsed into slumber and later into unconsciousness.

About 10 o'clock Mr. B. F. Flenniken, clerk About 10 o'clock Mr. B. F. Flennigen, ciera to the committee on public lands, of which Senator Plumb was chairman, and his private secretary for some years, called, as was his custom, to assist the Senator with his corresponding. There was a slight appearance of con-ence. There was a slight appearance of con-sciousness at the secretary's entrance, but the Senator's power of speech was gone for ever. His breathing at this time was very labored. Col. Marshall, a personal friend, who now arrived, seeing that the Senator's condition was momentarily growing more critical, hastily left the house and summoned Dr. Wales, but before he arrived there was a deep purple hue in the Senator's visage, and when the doctor saw it he said, "Apoplexy." Stimulants were administered, but these were ineffectual and at 11:50 THE SENIOR SENATOR FROM KANSAS EXPIRED. Senator Plumb's private secretary telegraphed the president of the Emporia National Bank of Kansas (in which Mr. Plumb was a director) and left to him the task of communicating the sad news to the family. The first communica-tion from Kansas was a dispatch requesting that the body be not immediately embalmed. A second telegram gave as a reason for the re quest a statement to the effect that the Senator had on one occasion last summer experienced had on one occasion last summer experienced suspended animation for nearly three hours. Before the first message was received Under-taker John R. Wright, in obedience to instruc-tions, completed the embalming operation. Evidence that the Senator was positively dead before the embalming process was commenced is said to be absolute and irrefragable. EXPRESSIONS OF REGRET. The news of the Senator's decease brought a great many of his colleague to his late residence. Vice President Morton, accompanied by Mrs. Cameron, wife of Senator Don Camby Mrs. Cameron, whe of Senator Don Cameron of Pennsylvania, was one of the carliest callers, and placed his services at the disposal of the friends of the dead Senator. Senator Peffer, Mr. Plumb's alliance colleague, remained in attendance several hours, answering questions and rendering any assistance in his power. During the afternoon nearly every Senator in town either called in person or sent messages of condolence, and some of the most earnestly expressed of the latter came from Senators on the democratic side, by all of whom the Kansas tatesman was respected.

The Senator leaves two unmarried daughters, who are now living with their widowed mother at his late home in Emporia, Kan., a son twenty-two years of age, now under treatment for his cresignt in Philadelphia, and a boy of twelve and a girl of fourteen at school in Pennsyl-vania.

THE FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS. The funeral arrangements were completed yesterday evening, a conference being held at the residence of Vice President Morton. Those who participated were the Vice President, Senator Manderson, Secretary McCook, Sergeantat-Arms Valentine and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Charles B. Reade.

SENATOR PLUMB'S CAREER. Senator Plumb was born in Delaware county, Ohio, October 12, 1837, so that he was in his fifty-fourth year at the time of his death. He not a college graduate, but left the common schools for the printer's case, and in pursuance of his vocation as a journeyman printer in 1856, in the bloody days of the history of the newly organized territory of Kansas, walked into that territory, and with the vigor and in-defatigable energy which has throughout his life been his chief characteristic the young man plunged at once into the thick of the hot political strife which was then waging over the political strife which was then waging over the slavery question. He at once went to the front and was chosen a member of the Leavenworth constitutional convention of 1859. He was admitted to the bar in 1861, when the place of his adoption became a state of the Union, served in the legislature in 1862, was chairman of the judiciary committee, and subsequently reporter of the supreme court. When the war broke out he entered the army as second licutemant in the eleventh Kansas infantry and served successively as captain, major and and served successively as captain, major and lieutenant colonel of that regiment, and was commissioned a colonel of the same regiment in August, 1862. After the war Mr. Plumb, returning to Kansas, was elected a member and speaker of the Kansas house of representatives, and in 1876 was chosen United States Senator to succeed Javas M. A SAD CASE OF DESTITUTION. The police have discovered a sad case of des titution at a little house on the canal road above the Aqueduct bridge and numbered or other stimulant. Ex-Senator Mahone, Mr. Frank Hatton, Senator Squire and his private secretary were at adjoining tables. They all entered into conversation with Mr. Plumb, but in the midst of it the Kansas Senator stopped and drew out a bottle of medicine, which he shook up and took a dose of, remarking, with an apology for his doing so, that he was feeling the feel is out, the larder is empty and the cold weather finds them almost clotheless. It is a weather finds them almost clotheless. It is a needy case and the charitably disposed have a worth object on which to bestow their charity. A collection was taken up this morning among the police officers to supply the immediate urgent wants of the unfortunate family, but a great deal remains to be done before it can be said they are comfortable. Clothes, money, fuel. &c., will be received at the station for the benefit of the sufferers. Beach is the name of the unfortunates.

THE TRAMPS WERE NOT GRATEFUL. A large number of tramps visited, the college on Saturday and were treated to a hot breakfast by the priests. Instead of quietly and thankfully leaving after this they began to get inquisitive and act suspiciously. Then the police were notified, and Officer Curren, with the assistance of the patrol, carried nine of them to the station, where they remained until this morning, when they went down in the Maria.
This morning in the Police Court one of the tramps, whose home is in this city, was released on bonds and the other men were sent down for twenty days each.
